From The President's Desk

I hope Santa brought everyone some stitching gifts so we all have plenty to do indoors in the cold weather ahead. We have an exciting year coming up with new programs, another teacher and our show. There are articles elsewhere in the newsletter about all three.

One of the things all groups are wondering about is how can we attract new members. I talked to the younger-than-us librarians at Sanger and they said "hoop-art" is very popular among millennials. I looked it up on-line and found it is relatively simple but usually sophisticated embroideries of all types that are easily (and inexpensively) displayed in an embroidery hoop. Embroidered words are a popular addition.

I would like to challenge each of you to find examples of hoop art and make up a few designs. We will have a special exhibit area for them at our next show. We can have on-going discussions at meetings and stitch-ins about designs we find or make up and ways to display the items. We can use hoop art in our advertising and just maybe we will attract some new people who can share our love of embroidery.

Program and Education Notes

On-Going Projects: Meadow Medley and The Puzzle. Please bring your pieces to the meetings so we can share in your progress.

January: We will start the New Year by working on a Crazy Quilt inspired name tag. Start looking for some scraps of cotton/calico fabrics for this project. No need for a sewing machine for this project. Please feel free to bring any fabric or scraps that you wish to share with the membership to this meeting.

February: We will be working on embellishing your name tag with decorative stitches and beads. Hopefully you can use some beads, threads, trims and embellishments from your stash.

April: Embroidery Hoop Inspired Box. For this project, there is some homework. You will need six 6-inch wooden hoops and a 6-inch round plaque for the bottom of the box. To make a top of your box you will need a 5 to 5 1/2 inch piece of needlework. Your needlework does not have to be finished for this meeting. Remember to pick a motif that is appropriate for a circle. Submitted by Irene Leonard.

42nd Annual Needlework Show

It may seem early to be thinking about our annual show, but for the chairman, it is a year-round project. Some members have expressed an interest in an exhibit this year rather than a judged show. They would like to exhibit their work, but don't like having it judged. We would also save some money if we don't have a judged show. The disadvantage is many members also learn from what the judge has to tell them each year. One of the reasons we are a group of excellent stitchers is we listen to what numerous professionals have told us on how to improve our work.

This is an important decision and I would like to give every member a chance to participate. Please e-mail or call me and say if you would like a judged show or an exhibit for 2017. My cell phone is 419-421-1134. I'll tally the results for the January meeting. If your first reaction is "I don't care, or my vote won't count", please know that the votes that aren't unanimous are very close and have low participation. Usually 4 or 5 people vote one way and 3-4 vote another and most don't vote. So your vote counts very much.

Any piece would be eligible for an exhibit, even if it has been shown before. If you enter a new piece in the exhibit it would still be eligible for a later show. We will still vote for guild and popular choice. There will not be a registration fee and costs will be absorbed by the chapter. Submitted by Caren Scarbrough.

◀ It's the Great Pumpkin, Charlie Brown... Well, at least it will be once it sports all those wonderful Halloween theme ornaments guild members will make. At the December meeting of NAGT, the vote was to switch directions and change from a Christmas wreath to a Halloween wreath with the drawing to be held in October. Well, that means all your ornaments will be due in September! Just think, we could even display the wreath at the annual show if everyone turns their ornament in beforehand. To help you visualize a Halloween wreath, I have assembled this pumpkin base (I didn't think you wanted evergreen fronds). If you were thinking of making an ornament that is predominantly orange, consider backing it with a darker color like black, dark brown or dark green with an edging that extends beyond it like a narrow halo to make it stand out. Please include a bit of matching floss or thread for sewing the ornaments in place. I can add more vine tendrils if needed later for fill. So all you ghouls, I mean girls, get stitching! Submitted by Christine Hampshire. Photo by David Hampshire.

As an alternative, we could use this ornament tree. Photo by Diane Myers.

I was fortunate to have taken a class from Sandy Rodgers at the Great Lakes Regional Seminar in 2015. The class was on shading with metallic threads. Sandy loved Kreinik threads and developed the above piece around their use. I also had the privilege of working with her at two of our annual needlework shows. She was our judge and I worked as her scribe. I learned so much from listening and recording her comments on a wide variety of needlework. She had a wealth of knowledge and was able to put into words the steps necessary to achieving the desired result. She will be missed - Diane Myers

In addition to teaching at seminars and the pilot class for Hark! Hear the Bells, Sandy Rodgers was the judge for our 2002, 2003 and 2004 needlework shows. Unfortunately I could not find a good picture of her in my files, so I am using her obituary photo - Su Pellitieri.
